Western Numismatic Americana

Gradually, during the past few years, we have become one of the most active, if not the largest dealer, in the pioneer and territorial gold field. Not only have we handled many of the better known rarities, but it has been our good fortune to devise a system of unearthing numerous unique pieces not previously known to Edgar H. Adams, Waldo Newcomer, Virgil Brand, Fred Boyd, or anyone else. In this connection, we might state that we have handled the most fabulous items imaginable. Some of them were published for the first time in the thirteenth edition of the Whitman GUIDEBOOK; others will appear in the forthcoming nineteenth edition of the STANDARD CATALOGUE.

Branching out from the regular privately-made gold coins, we were the first dealers to dig out, popularize, and deal in western assay ingots. In addition, we have scrutinized pioneer patterns and trials, unofficial coin dies, assay ingot punches, paper money privately made in the western states prior to 1890, and even bar and ingot moulds. Of late we have gone even further in our search of ANYTHING connected with the "Money of the West." We are keenly interested in the historical data and background contained in letters, correspondence, drafts, checks, broadsides, directories, and even contemporary newspapers. We own what could easily be considered the most comprehensive library on "Western Numismatic Americana" in existence.

Pioneer gold, particularly RARE pioneer gold, requires top-notch clients. We found the coins and ingots—and we have found the customers. Our clients, mainly because they are our clients, are well informed. They know that we deal in documented facts, not fanciful conversation. If the item is GOOD, we can pay a GOOD price on their behalf.

It will pay you to contact us if you have any of the following items, or know where to locate them!

- "Common" Pioneer or privately made gold coins in superlative condition; Ex. Fine to Proof.
- Pioneer Gold rarities in any condition.
- Unlisted and/or unpublished Pioneer Gold.
- Assay bars and ingots.
- Pioneer patterns and trials; in any metal.
- Western paper money, script, certificates, drafts.
- Any ephemera connected with the Numismatic West; from Assayer's letter punches to broadsides and even pertinent newspaper accounts.

IF IT'S WORTHWHILE, IT WILL PAY YOU TO DEAL DIRECT!

DECIMALS IN SOUTH AFRICA

By

ELSTON G. BRADFELD, LM 266

DECIMAL DAY has come and gone in the Union of South Africa and an entirely new monetary system is now in effect. The deep-rooted pounds, shillings and pence have given way to rands and thus it implements its Decimal Coinage Act of 1959.

The issue of new rand bank notes and coins and their equivalents in the pound, shilling and pence system are:

and cents. Although every effort was made to educate and inform the business community and seventeen million South African residents, the switch-over on D-Day, February 14, 1961, could not result in a complete abandonment of the old and acceptance of the new on that day. For a time it is expected the two systems will operate side by side until September, 1962, with gradual withdrawal from circulation of the old coins and bank notes. Thus the Union of South Africa joins a hundred other nations which have a decimal system of coinage,

In accordance with the recommendations of the Decimal Coinage Commission, the Act of 1959 makes no provision for a 25¢ coin, equal to 2s 6d, which was thought to be too close in appearance and value to the 20¢ piece. Also, the Government decided that no ¼¢ coin should be struck.

The metallic composition of all gold and silver coins are the same as the old equivalents. Similarly the reverses of all gold and silver coins are, with the exception of their new denominations, unchanged, subject to two minor qualifications: Since the 6d coin became 5¢, the six bundles of sticks surrounding the

With the exception of their new denominations, the new bank notes resemble the old. The new R200 bank note will not be issued at this time because its use is restricted and the Reserve Bank has a large supply of the £100 notes on hand.

All new gold, silver and bronze coins are, or will be, in accordance with the provisions of the Decimal Coinage Act of 1959, of exactly the same sizes and weights as the old coins. All bear the bust of Jan van Riebeeck on their obverses. All coins, therefore, will be readily distinguishable from each other.

protea blooms are reduced to five bundles; since the 3d coin is a 2½¢ coin, reducing the three bundles to two and a half bundles presented such an artistic problem that it was decided to eliminate the bundles entirely.

As there are no exact equivalents between the values of the old and the new bronze coins, to prevent possible confusion the new pieces of 1¢ and ½¢ are to be made of a different metallic composition, yellow bronze which is much lighter in color than the darker bronze of the old. To add further to their distinc-

As part of the campaign to make the new money familiar, the Decimalization Board used all media of communication, handbills and posters, newspapers and radio, cartoons, lectures, etc. Yes, there was even a rock and roll song, "Decimal Dan, the Rand-Cent Man."

The new monetary unit, the rand, is equal to about $1.40 U. S. cur-

So for awhile the dual monetary system will prevail. Gradually, however, the old will be retired from circulation as it becomes worn and soiled, only to be replaced by the new.

Fractional silver coins were made subsidiary under the Act of 1853. The operations of the Mint for a few years following the Act of 1834 are of special interest. The coinage of gold rose from an inconsiderable amount prior to 1834 to nearly $60,000,000 in 1852; the coinage of silver increased until 1842 when about $3,600,000 in half and quarter dollars were coined, but dropped below $175,000 in 1852. The 1834 law had placed too low a value on silver with the result that silver coins were bought up and sold as bullion at a profit and gold was sent to the Mint for coinage. Since the issues of silver dollars were small, speculators dealt in fractional coins. Silver coins became scarce and business was hampered. To remedy this evil, the law of 1853 reduced the weight of the half dollar from 206¼ to 192 grains of standard silver and of the other silver coins in proportion. They were thus made subsidiary. The coinage of fractional silver in 1853 totaled nearly 10,000,000.

Halifax Club Issues Decimal Centenary Medal

To further the rich numismatic history of Nova Scotia, and in particular the introduction of decimal coinage in 1861, the Halifax Coin Club has issued a commemorative medal.

A committee was appointed in October, 1959, and a number of sketches were prepared by Chairman A. M. MacDonald, and presented to the com-

The obverse of the medal shows the Susan M. Dudman, a sailing vessel built in Tusket, Nova Scotia in 1861, the year of the introduction of decimal coinage. She was a three masted barque of seven hundred forty-five tons registry, length one hundred seventy feet, and was typical of the cargo vessels produced in the shipyards of Nova Scotia during the middle of the last century. It was during this period of Nova Scotia's history that her sailing vessels were considered among the finest and their Bluenose captains sailed to the far corners of the world. Above the vessel is the title of the medal, DECIMAL COINAGE CENTENARY and below NOVA SCOTIA 1861-1961 CANADA.

The reverse design features the official flag of Nova Scotia, one of the most ancient and beautiful flags in the British Commonwealth. This flag is derived from the coat of arms approved for Nova Scotia in 1626 by King Charles I of England, five years after the colony was granted to Sir William Alexander. The flag has the blue cross of St. Andrew on the silver field with the red and gold Royal Arms of Scotland in the center. It is seldom that a flag appears as the main device on a coin or medal and this Nova Scotian flag is engraved with careful attention for accuracy and detail making it a handsome feature for the reverse. Sprays of mayflowers (trailing arbutus) curve about the lower portion of the reverse. The use of the mayflower recalls the beautiful penny and half penny of 1856.

The medal, which has been struck in bronze, silver and gold, is a very fine example of numismatic art. It is definitely Nova Scotian in character as it symbolizes much of the province's life and tradition during the past three hundred forty years. Because it commemorates an event of major importance in Canadian coinage history, it will undoubtedly appeal to all collectors of beautiful and historic numismatic material.

Fifty gold medals were struck to fill individual orders and no more will be made. The silver issue has been limited to three hundred pieces, and are $5.25 each. Bronze medals are $2.75 and will be produced as the demand requires. Prices are postpaid and registered. Send remittances with orders to Mrs. Lorraine Cato, Apartment 2B, 3 Maplehurst Dr., Dartmouth, Nova Scotia.

mittee. The Royal Mint, London, England consented to carry out the engraving and striking of the medal.

In March, 1960, a design was decided upon and final sketches made. The Royal Mint prepared their working drawings from these and on May 17, presented them for approval before the Royal Mint Advisory Committee on the design of coins and medals under the presidency of H. R. H. The Duke of Edinburgh. The basic design was approved and the Royal Mint advised it would proceed with the engraving and striking.

THE $100 INTEREST NOTE OF 1862:

SCROLLS, TENDRILS AND PLATES

These $100 interest notes have always had an attraction for collec-

The Treasury notes first issued by the Confederacy in 1861 bore interest at the rate of 3.65 per cent in $50, $100, $500 and $1000 denominations and reached a total slightly more than $2,000,000. However, they were quickly followed by large numbers of noninterest-bearing notes, which, with other fiscal actions, greatly increased the currency in circulation.

The re-incorporation of the interest-bearing feature at double the rate of the 1861 issue was made with the expectation that the 1862 tors of Confederate currency. Some numismatic study has been directed to the two types, one lithographed, the other engraved, and their varieties.

The subject of this article is the engraved $100 interest note with central vignette illustrating Negroes in cotton field, bust of John C. Calhoun on left and Columbia on right (Fig. 1), produced by Keatinge and Ball. It is listed: Chase Type No. 202, Raymond No. 39, Bradbeer Nos. 310-333, Criswell No. T41 and Slaugh No. 42.

Philip H. Chase, Wynnewood, Pa., is a leading authority in the field of Confederate currency. This is the third of a series he is doing for our readers during the centennial years of the Civil War.

Fig. 2. No. 1 and 2 scrolls. Actual sizes.

There are three major engraving varieties. Two have long been known. They are characterized by differently arranged scrolls in the upper corners, generally designated No. 1 scrolls and No. 2 scrolls (Fig. 2). The third major engraving variety, with No. 1 scrolls, lacks THE to the left of the large lettering CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA. (Fig. 3). These varieties and others less obvious invited search for evidence to determine the number of plates used in printing the notes, the plate differences and plate revisions, if any.

Comparison of notes with No. 1 scrolls and those with No. 2 scrolls disclosed that, though the "tendrils" extending both horizontally and vertically from the main scroll showed many differences, there were only two scroll designs instead of four:

Notes with
No. 1 scrolls

Notes with
No. 2 scrolls

This is apparent from Fig 4, in which the two scroll types from opposite corners are matched.

The conclusion is obvious that only two transfer rolls, of opposite "hand" were used in entering the main corner designs on the plates, but with "left" and "right" reversed on some of them.

The existence of notes with only the letters W, X, Y and Z was clear evidence that there were no more than four subjects per plate. It was assumed that these four subjects would be in alphabetical order top to bottom, a premise eventually proved.

Examination of a large number of notes disclosed that there were exactly six variations of the "grapevine tendrils" extending horizontally and vertically from the top corner scrolls for notes with letter W, and similarly for those with letters X, Y and Z respectively. These tendrils clearly had been engraved free-hand. This evidence showed that six plates had been used, two producing No. 1 scroll notes and four producing No. 2 scrolls.

The other major variety, the one lacking THE before CONFEDERATE occurs on notes from only one of the plates with No. 1 scrolls. Also, these are the only notes with the date

AUG. 26, 1862 entirely handwritten in ink. Very early revision of this plate – the addition of THE before CONFEDERATE and 186 on the date line was evident from notes showing these changes and with identical tendrils, dated only two days later. The omission of THE, an error quickly discovered by the Confederate authorities and one important to correct, apparently escaped general notice, for specific mention of it did not appear in the numismatic press until recent years.* Notes of this “error” variety are scarce as they comprise only about one per cent of the total of this type issued.

The next step in the investigation was to assign each of the variant notes – W, X, Y and Z – to its parent plate. This was simple with the two plates that produced notes with No. 1 scrolls, for one of them was the plate which was revised. On the contrary, the sixteen notes, four of each letter, with No. 2 scrolls, printed from four plates, presented a complicated problem. No sheets or unseparated portions, or notes with identical numbers, that would have established plate-note relationships, were available.

The solution of this problem of tracing each note with No. 2 scrolls to the correct one among the four plates, used a method similar to that employed with another Confederate note, the $10 “Hope with Anchor” of the Sept. 2, 1861 issue. The final “keys” were some notes, a very small percentage of the total examined, which had been so ineptly cut from the others in the sheet by Confederate Treasury clerks that small portions showed of the adjacent note above or below. The differences in the free-hand engraved “tendrils” and also in the

Table II shows that inner bottom frame line differences can serve to identify readily the exact plate for fourteen varieties, but lack such precision for the other ten. However, the sectional photographs of Figs. 5 and 6 provide precise plate identification for every one of the twenty-four engraving varieties of this $100 interest note of 1862.

It is hoped that this presentation will help in the understanding by collectors of this outstanding Confederate Treasury note. It comprises the findings from an excursion down one of the many byways in the Confederate currency field. There are still many byways to be explored that will uncover useful numismatic material and provide rich rewards of satisfaction to the explorer.

Jewish Historical Society Issues Medal

The American Jewish Historical Society commissioned Paul Vincze, sculptor-medallist, to design a medal named after their former President, the late Lee Max Friedman, to be awarded annually in gold for distinguished achievement in the sphere of Jewish historical research. As there is a great interest among collectors about this medal, it was decided to issue a limited edition of sets, obverse and reverse struck separately for collectors' use.

Reverse

The silver edition is limited to one hundred and the bronze to 1,000 numbered sets. The price of the silver is $12.50 each ($25.00 for a set of obverse and reverse), the bronze is $5.00 each ($10.00 for a set of obverse and reverse), 9 ct. gold $98.00 each ($196.00 for a set) limited to twenty-five sets, 18 ct. gold $225.00 each ($450.00 for a set), limited to fifteen sets and the 22 ct. gold $325.00 each ($650.00 for a set) limited to ten sets. 1961 A.N.A. Atlanta Convention

BRING THAT CONFEDERATE MONEY BACK

"I'll think of it all tomorrow. After all, tomorrow is another day." Thus spoke Scarlett O'Hara of Gone With the Wind from the pen of Atlanta's Margaret Mitchell.

But, "honey chile," Atlanta Coin Club wants you to think of it today! We're having a ball with fabulous preparations for your pleasure at the seventieth annual convention of the American Numismatic Association to be held August 16-19, 1961, in Atlanta, Ga., the treasure trove for Civil War enthusiasts.

This promises to be the biggest convention ever – and we're making sure the quality fits the size! There will be the usual convention features – the exhibits and dealers' bourse, a fine educational program – auction sale by World Numismatiques Inc., headed by genial James Kelly, who certainly knows how to handle convention auctions; short business sessions, the banquet with entertainment – and the Special Events Committee has such marvelous fun and thrills planned for the ladies and for the whole FAMILY! Southern hospitality will be in full bloom for all of you!

The first U. S. silver dollar was coined in October, 1794. The field of the reverse was proposed to be occupied by an eagle. This question of the emblems and devices of our national coins was before the House of Representatives, when Matthew Lyon, a congressman from the South, warmly opposed the eagle as a monarchical bird. The king of birds, he thought, could not be a suitable representation of a country whose institutions were founded in hostility to kings. In reply Judge Thatcher proposed a goose, which, he said, was a most humble and republican bird, and would, in other respects prove advantageous, inasmuch as the goslings would be convenient to put on the dimes. The laughter which followed at Mr. Lyon's expense was more than he could bear. He construed this good humored irony into an insult and sent Judge Thatcher a challenge. The bearer delivered it to Mr. Thatcher, who read and returned it to him, observing that he should not accept it. "What! Will you be branded as a coward?" "Yes, sir, if he pleases. I always was a coward, and he knew it, or he never would have challenged me." The joke was too good to be resisted by the angry party. The former cordial intercourse between the parties was soon restored in a manner entirely satisfactory. — The United States Mint, A. M. Smith, Pub., Phila.

JACK W. OGILVIE, LM 93, HISTORIAN

It is possible that Dr. Heath reversed an earlier decision and adhered to the old adage that age and wisdom run synonymously when he withdrew from the 1898 election, thus paving the way for sixty-five year old Joseph Hooper of Port Hope, Ontario, to become the fourth President of the A.N.A. At any rate, it fell upon this sage of three countries to lift the organization out of the chasm into which it had fallen, due to the turbulent times of the late nineties. What manner of man was this person selected to take over in such a crucial period?

Joseph Hooper

Joseph Hooper, born in Plymouth, England, February 19, 1832 was a direct descendant of the Bishop of Gloucester. He migrated to the United States at the age of twenty-one and located in Detroit. Later he went to Port Hope where he established a monument business, specializing in Italian marble and Scotch granite. He married and raised a family of two girls and three boys.

Hooper became interested in collecting when a lad and his love for numismatics continued throughout his life. As a student of the science, he made notes as early as 1876 pertaining to certain coins and famous collectors such as Lorin G. Parmelee of Boston who was noted for his baked beans and fabulous collection which included an "original" 1804 dollar. In 1891, Hooper, familiar with the collection, purchased all of its Canadian, English and Roman coins to add to his rare old English gold and silver pieces. His specialty was coins of English speaking peoples.

He became acquainted with Dr. Heath through The Numismatist and, starting a career as a prolific writer of things numismatic, contributed a few of his articles for publication prior to the organization of the A.N.A. Heath, quick to recognize abilities, singled him out and suggested his nomination to the official family. He was one of seven Canadians on the charter membership list. At the October, 1891, meeting, he was elected the first vice president of the Association, a position he held for the next seven years. During this period he established his famous column "Hooper's Restrikes" which appeared rather frequently and continued for many years thereafter. It consisted of short paragraphs pertaining to many numismatic topics, current news, oddities and statistics which are still used as a source of information by current present day writers.

The official seal of our Association was originally designed and submitted as a proposed medal by Hooper in 1892. (The complete story of the seal may be found in the early pages of the Library catalog.) A son of Hooper's presented the original drawings, the obverse closely resembling its present day counterpart, to the A.N.A. at the 1932 Los Angeles convention.

When Hooper started his term as the fourth President in January of 1899, the organization was in chaos. Less than a hundred of the original three hundred members remained on the roll. This group were assigned the first ninety-nine numbers in the reorganization which followed and the backlog of new applicants, the numbers from one hundred upward. This accounts for the variation of membership numbers as originally assigned. Only Heath, Tatman and Jerrems retained their previous numbers of one, two and three, while Hooper, who was twenty-five on the charter list, was reassigned number eleven. But alas! Far more of the original members than were anticipated, eventually returned and a mad scramble for "low numbers" ensued. There were as many as three claimants to certain "choice" numerals but those genial gents, Hooper and Heath, eventually smoothed out the difficulties, however, some lost ground, Charlie Steigerwalt went into the melee with a low seventy-four but came out with a miserable 98. Bad niblick shots!

A large number of Canadians entered the A.N.A. during the regime of their fellow countryman. Prominent among them were: P. O. Tremblay, B. G. Hamilton, Robert W. McLachlan, Dr. Courteau, S. S. Heal, Jeremiah Gibbs and P. N. Breton, famed for his attribution of Canadian tokens. Hooper, himself, issued two of these which Breton numbered 777 and 778.

An impressive list of U. S. numismatists also enrolled in this period: A. C. Gies, Chas. E. Briggs, Joseph Mitchelson, Moses Marcuson, Robert T. King and surviving members George Marlier and Al Hepner. Well known dealers to join were: Thomas Elder, Ben Green, Joe Barnett and Elmer Sears. Four others, later destined to become Presidents were: Farran Zerbe, Judson Brenner, A. R. Frey and Frank Duffield. The total enrollment reached an all time high of three hundred and forty-seven on December 31, 1901 when Hooper turned over the Presidency to his successor, Dr. B. P. Wright. Once again, with the team of the three "H" boys in action, the triple threat from Hooper to Heath to Heaton ended in victory — a victory so decisive that, since that time, the A.N.A. has never suffered defeat.

Shortly before retiring, President Hooper, seventy at the time, removed to Rochester, N. Y., where his coin activities consisted mostly of disposing of his collection. His Greek coins were donated to the Detroit Central Library and another part was sold to the Dominion Government Museum. Other segments were sold by dealers and the remainder willed to his children.

He was honorary chairman of the 1912 Detroit convention and as a tribute, for his many contributions and faithful service, was made an honorary member of the organization he loved so well, the American Numismatic Association. His full and illustrious life ended on February 16, 1919, three days prior to his eighty-seventh birthday.

JOSEPH WILLIAM DECKER, A.N.A. NO. 13766

Joseph William Decker, 76, Fernandina Beach, Fla., died unexpectedly May 1, 1960. Born at Newark, N. J., January 6, 1884, his parents moved to Berlin, Germany the year following. Residing there until his education was completed, he graduated with majors in engraving and silversmithing.

Returning to the United States shortly after the turn of this century, his work centered in the design and creation of jewelry for those famous in the theatrical field of that era. Among his memoirs one finds many glowing tributes from William S. Hart, Theda Bara, Thomas Mix, and others, of his creations for them.

William Decker spent a long and fruitful life in the pursuit of all the arts and sciences. He was especially interested in the collection, restoration and preservation of any and all historical things for posterity. He leaves behind an invaluable wealth of material one will hope to see continued in the safe archives for the future.

During the last decade of his life, he toiled tirelessly and contributed much to the restoration of Fort Clinch, in Fort Clinch State Park, near Fernandina, Fla.

At the time of his death he labored on the restoration of two of Fernandina's oldest dwellings; one in which he hoped to place on public display a part of the fruits of his many years of gathering.

Mr. Decker was an active member of numerous societies, including the Jacksonville Coin Club, of which he was a past president and where his contributions will be forever remembered. — AKO

The first attempt that the United States government made to coin money was four silver pattern coins based on the decimal system of coinage devised by Gouverneur Morris: The largest piece, smaller than a dollar, was to be called a mark or 1,000 units, the next a quint or 500 units, of which there are two varieties — and the remaining one, a cent or 100 units. These coins bear the date 1783 and are known as the Nova Constellio patterns.

Medal Commemorates Two Important Events

Two of America's historically vital "pioneer inventions" are marked in the most recent Heraldic Art medal, No. 6 in a continuing series of silver commemorative pieces and completing the 1960 set of three. Twin anniversaries of the long rifle and the Conestoga wagon are memorialized in the piece, which has a title legend shared by obverse and reverse: PIONEER INVENTIONS/OPENING THE WAY WEST.

tires to negotiate rough trails, curved bottoms to prevent load shifting, capacity for from four to six tons of freight protected by stout hempen covers drawn over high bows; all are distinctive to the utility of this design which earned it more than a century of service, well into the railroad era.

Design and models for this piece were executed by Sculptor Robert A. Weinman. Altho Weinman has mod-Obverse and reverse of the Pioneer Inventions medal, slightly enlarged.

Obverse displays a prowling wolf, barred by a flintlock long rifle. Legend: LONG RIFLE/1710/1960. The beginnings of the long rifle are traced to 1710, when the frontiersman's knowledge was combined with the skill of the newly-arrived German gunsmiths to begin the development of a superior weapon. Greater range and accuracy, silent patch loading in place of slow "hammer-ramming," lighter arm and ammunition which meant that a good supply could be carried — all these factors helped secure game, control predatory animals and unfriendly Indians in the move west into the wilderness. The long rifle is also credited with a vital role in the winning of the Revolution.

Reverse depicts the hitching of the team to the first "covered wagon." Legend in exergue: 1760-1960/CONESTOGA WAGON. Without a sturdy, true bulk carrier, the vast spaces of the new land could never have been settled. America's contribution to the development of transportation was the Conestoga wagon. Broad-wheeled elled twenty-eight other institutional and award medals, this is his first piece in the numismatic field. In his student days at the National Academy of Design, though, he spent many apprentice hours assisting his father, the late A. A. Weinman, designer of the Liberty Walking half dollar, and James Earle Fraser, who modelled the Buffalo five cents and other pieces. His brother Howard K. Weinman designed the Long Island commemorative half dollar. Among Robert Weinman's larger figures are those of a bomber pilot in "Morning Mission" at the Tulsa Municipal Airport and "Great Blue Heron" at Brookgreen Gardens, S. C.

Price of the silver pieces, of half dollar diameter but thicker than the standard half dollar, is $3.25 singly or $6.00 per pair postpaid, available directly from Heraldic Art, Box 5891, Cleveland 1, O. Subscription data for the 1961 set of three pieces accompanies the Pioneer Inventions medal, as does a descriptive folder for the piece.

The Old Capitol Coin Club, Iowa City, Iowa, is considering giving the four volume set of the A.N.A. Reprint Books to the public library as part of National Coin Week activities.

ENVELOPED POSTAGE STAMPS

By

RICHARD T. HOOBER, A.N.A. No. 9302

THE period during and immediately following the Civil War was characterized by numerous zealous attempts to find some means of alleviating the crying need for specie, or cash, for change by merchants and individuals in their daily business transactions. Money disappeared as if by magic; those who had any specie hoarded what they could against the day of the threatened catastrophe to the Union. Large amounts of coin were exported to Canada and South America, and a premium of ten to twelve percent was offered for "hard money" by businessmen who required it for change. Even street car and milk tickets were pressed into service. Nearly all of the proposed schemes and the existing mementos of those trying times have been exhaustively studied and classified by the interested numismatists of the past and present. Notable among the efforts of that period were the fractional currency notes, legally authorized by the United States Government, issued in various fractional parts of a dollar. This form of paper for change was of great assistance, but impractical because they were soon badly worn by constant use.

The forerunner to the many ideas propounded occurred during the years of 1832-1844, when the so-called hard times tokens came into being, having been issued primarily for political reasons. But, during the economic hard times of that era when necessity again became the mother of invention, merchants and others had them struck in an ever-increasing quantity and variety, usually of the size and composition of the then current cents, which resulted in the tokens being used as cents themselves in local cash transactions where they would be accepted and given out as change.

Following these early efforts with tokens, the Civil War spawned another series, termed Civil War tokens. In keeping with the recently reduced size of the cent, another series was struck in great quantity during the years 1860-1865, also bearing advertising and patriotic designs and slogans. They were struck in various metals, and numerous die varieties of many are known. Those bearing advertising were known as store cards, and all were used as small change by nearly everyone.

These tokens were satisfactory for the purchase of inexpensive items, but the demand was strong also for larger fractional denominations, thus the enveloped postage stamps came into being to help ease the hard money shortage. By this method, various business firms, hotels, theaters, etc., used small envelopes often bearing an advertising message into which postage stamps were placed for use as change. Close upon this experiment came the more durable encased postage stamps, patented by J. Gault. The mint stamps were placed in a brass frame with advertising on the back, with a mica window to see the stamp's value within and protect the stamps from damage.

But to return to the practically unknown enveloped stamps. The original idea seems to have been sponsored, or at least encouraged by those engaged in the stationery business, for twenty-nine varieties of various printers and stationers are found out of some ninety known different envelopes.

The envelopes can be grouped as those bearing patriotic slogans and devices numbering fifteen, theaters seven, business firms twenty-five, nameless twenty. The custom seems to have been confined to the larger cities in New York state, although a few were issued in Boston and Cincinnati.

Naturally, demand for postage stamps increased. The Postmaster General reported in December, 1862, "In the first quarter of the current year, ending September 20th, the number of stamps issued to postmasters was one hundred and four million dollars; there were calls for about two hundred millions, which would have been nearly sufficient to meet the usual demands for the year. This extraordinary demand arose from the temporary use of these stamps as a currency for the public in lieu of the smaller denominations of specie, and ceased with the introduction of the so-called 'postal currency'."

As the stamps used were mint, or with gum, the slightest contact with moisture was enough to make them stick fast to the inside of the envelopes, and undoubtedly caused considerable confusion and annoyance. Henry Russell Drowne's article on this subject, which appeared in the May, 1920, issue of The Numismatist, mentioned one noble effort to overcome this condition by pasting the stamps on the outside of the envelope by one William Newton & Co., Newport, R. I., July 4, 1862. As a consequence, when the designs were made for the proposed postage currency, all denominations — 5¢, 10¢, 25¢ and 50¢ notes — bore reproductions of current postage stamps being used with the higher denominations showing multiples of the small denomination stamps. The government apparently fully realized the good service to which the stamps had previously been put to use.

The small envelopes were cheap to print and many varieties bear no identification other than the denomination. About the size of our current theater ticket envelopes, they were expendable and most were promptly discarded when received, and so it is that very few envelopes are in existence today. However, if our knowledge of the development of money in the United States is to be complete, the insignificant envelopes cannot be overlooked.

No effort has been made to list all varieties bearing no advertising message, only some general types have been described merely to show different types and denominations. The envelopes were generally printed on a white background with black, blue, red or green ink. Paper also differed in color: white, amber, lemon, pink, orange, brown and several other colors, while the most popular combination appears to have been made with red and blue ink on a white paper. No elaborate work was employed in their manufacture, woodcuts and electrotypes seem to have been generally used.

These now long forgotten forms of necessity money, used mainly in our larger Eastern cities, are in themselves quite unimportant in a numismatic sense. Yet, they are a distinct step in the chain of events that brought about the evolution of money through the trying Civil War period down to modern specie as we know it today, in plentiful quantity for the many daily needs for small change.

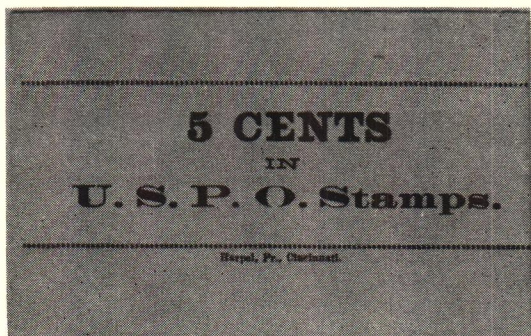

Some years ago, the writer had the privilege of photographing the unique collection of these obsolete envelopes owned by the late F.C.C. Boyd, who did so much for so many during the years he was active as one of the country's leading collectors. It was always his aim to foster and encourage research and study. It is the writer's belief that these same notes were used by Henry Russell Drowne, when his article was written and published originally in the American Journal of Numismatics in 1918, reprinted in The Numismatist, May, 1920, p. 181. One envelope, Nixon's Cremorne Garden, originally printed with a ten cent denomination, had the amount raised to twenty-five cents with pen and ink, and the later illustration appears to be identical. Eric Newman also very kindly forwarded a copy of the 1920 Numismatist, carrying the article mentioned above, and the writer is deeply indebted to him as well.

SURVEY OF MEDIEVAL IBERIAN COINAGES

By

J. F. LHOTKA, LM 334 AND P. K. ANDERSON, LM 210

The coinage of Aragon when all of the various dependencies are considered is complicated but any single series is actually simple. For example, in Aragon proper, the bust left obverse was standardized even earlier than in Castile and Leon. The cross rising from a floral base was a routine reverse type until the introduction of the patriarchal cross by Peter II. The types on the florin are easily distinguished and follow the common pattern. The key to such coins is found in the legend, not the types. Finally in the reign of John II, the arms of Aragon are used as a common reverse type and they certainly are easily recognized.

In the Barcelona series, there is even less of a problem. The coins are basically all alike regardless of denomination (with an exception or two) in that a bust left type constitutes the obverse and the classical Barcelona type forms the reverse. Again, the key to precise attribution is the legend.

The Valencia series is also essentially the same in that with James I, the floral type is found on the reverse and later the lozenge with the Aragonese arms became standard. The obverse type of James was the standard bust left, later changed to a crowned facing bust.

The Majorcan series, regardless of whether it falls in the independent period or in the Aragonese union era, is also easy to distinguish. The Majorcan cross is so distinctive that its presence automatically assigns any coin bearing it to the Majorcan series. Facing busts and seated royal figures (on the gold coins) are the standard obverse types. The exact attribution depends on the legends.

The Rousillon series resembles that of Barcelona series since both are differentiated by legend. The types are identical.

The Sardinian coins are also true within their own confines. The rosettes that occur routinely distinguish these issues as well as the standard obverse type of the arms of Aragon on a shield.

The Sicily issues of the House of Aragon are basically alike with the crowned eagle and the shield with the Aragonese arms used as the types. The exact attribution depends on the legends.

The coins of Naples are somewhat more complicated but again the presence of the Aragonese arms, usually quartered with other arms, is a distinctive type. This series is limited in our paper to the coins of Alfonso V and his successors so is rather brief. The coins are fully described in the coin lists.

Navarre

The Navarrese series is more complicated than those of Castile and Leon and Aragon but they are not common and usually do not present any real difficulties. Initially the Navarrese issues were similar to those of Aragon except for the legend divided by the floral based cross. Later, after the union of Aragon and Navarre had been dissolved by the death of Alfonso I and the rule had been returned to a member of the older Navarrese royal house, a crescent and star type was utilized.

When the kingdom passed to the French House of Champagne, the standard Champagne reverse (the "comb" associated with a crescent) was put on the Navarrese coins. The earlier busts on the obverse were abandoned and replaced with crosses more typical of the French feudal series. The types became very French in nature when the rule passed to the House of Evreux and were continued until the throne was taken by Ferdinand of Aragon in 1512. On several occasions during the last year of French rule, the "chains" of Navarre were used as a coin type.

Feudal Issues

These coins are somewhat complicated but they do possess certain characteristics. The Ampurian counts often used an upright sword as a type and the rulers of Urgel frequently used croziers as types. These coins can often be attributed on type alone. The Counts of Barcelona prior to the Aragonese union used primitive forms of what later developed into the Barcelona type, i.e., a long cross with alternating annulets and three pellets. In most cases, exact attribution of feudal coins is based on the legend.

Portugal

The medieval Portuguese series is probably the easiest of this group to attribute since the standard reverse rapidly became the "cross of shields" with each shield bearing five billets. During the early periods, there was some variation, but by the reign of Denis, the five shield cross had been formalized. Busts were rarely used by the Portuguese on their silver and base coins (Alfonso I and Ferdinand used them), but seated, standing, and sometimes mounted figures appear on gold coins. The key to attribution of Portuguese medieval coins is the shield cross. Exact attribution to ruler must be made by legend.

MEDIEVAL SPANISH COIN DENOMINATIONS

When compared to other medieval coinage series, the Iberian is probably as simple as exists but one aspect of it can cause trouble. Unlike the medieval English kings, who issued the penny unchanged in name and form for hundreds of years, the Spanish rulers, especially in Castile, tended to vary the denominational names from reign to reign. Thus after a brief period of uniformity when the dinero and obol constituted the coinage, the Castilian rulers began to alter the names of their coins even though they did not change the coins physically except in minor ways.

Ferdinand III began the difficulties when he discontinued the older denominations in silver and billon (disregarding gold) and struck a coin called the pepion. In the next reign, Alfonso X continued the pepion but also issued coins called the burgales and the maravedi prieto. Sancho IV, the next Castilian ruler, struck none of these pieces but in their place issued the cornado. Then Ferdinand IV, not to be outdone, discontinued all of these types and struck the noven. Now, with the exception of minor points, all of these coins are about the same and the probability is that a collector, not knowing the name variations, would call all of them billon dineros. Later, various forms of these denominations were struck intermittently along with their half units, and newer coin forms, the real and its subdivisions and the "Agnus Dei" were struck. The gold coinages are just as confusing with numerous forms of the dobla as well as the enrique in its various multiples and fractions were struck.

The Aragonese kings were more consistent and struck the dinero and obol in Aragon until the reign of Peter IV. However, this is not where the difficulties lie in the Aragonese series. Unlike the Castilian rulers, the Aragonese kings were very much internationalists and Aragon was a real power in the western Mediterranean area. Consequently, the Aragonese kings frequently gained control of territories beyond the border of Aragon proper and although their home issues remained the same, they struck entirely different coin series for their dependencies. For example, in Sicily they issued the tari in various forms, in Majorca the real (which differed from the Aragonese real), in Italy vast numbers of coins in numerous denominations, and in Barcelona a large croat series. In addition, there were French issues for Montpellier, Provence, and Roussillon. Thus, although each separate portion of their empire retained its own basic denominations, there were so many Aragonese dependencies that the coinage is just as complicated as that of Castile and Leon.

The Navarrese situation is still different and such difficulties as arise are based on the fact that this throne passed back and forth between French and Spanish royal houses. Thus a double series of denominational names developed, one Spanish, the other French. Fortunately, the series is rare and does not pose too great a problem. In this paper, we have tended to use the Spanish terms since our table and text are primarily based on the work of Heiss. Thus we use the term denier when it is felt that the French aspects, either economic or political, were foremost and dinero when the coins were struck by strictly Spanish rulers (such as John of Aragon).

The Portuguese coins are similar to those of Castile and Leon in that numerous denominations developed. The Portuguese series is considered in detail in the special section on its coins.

The following list of Spanish coin denominations should help in understanding the various issues. When it is used in conjunction with the coin lists and the ruler-mint-denomination charts, the over-all problem of these names should be clarified:

AGNUS DEI: a silver coin of Spain first issued by John I (1379-1390) of Castile. The obverse of these coins shows a lamb and pennant, usually facing left, and sometimes with a halo. The lamb is known as a "paschal lamb" or "lamb of God" from which the coin derives its name. They were also struck by John II (1406-1454) of Castile by the mints of Burgos, Seville, and Toledo.

ALFONSINO: a name given to divers monies in gold and silver issued by Alfonso V (1442-1458) of Aragon for circulation in Naples and Sicily. The gold alfonsino has for its principal device the king in armor mounted on a richly caparisoned horse. The silver coin shows the king seated on a throne holding a scepter and a globe surmounted by a cross. The reverse of both coins carries the combined arms of Aragon, Jerusalem, and Hungary. They were struck in Naples and Aquila.

ARMELLINO: a silver coin struck in 1465 and later by Ferdinand I (1458-1494) of Naples and commemorates the establishment of the Military Order of the Armellino. The word armellino means ermine and the coins may be distinguished by the figure of an ermine on the reverse. Coins with the ermine reverse were also issued by later Aragonese kings of Naples which are beyond the limits of this paper.

BLANCA: a base metal coin of late medieval times. These coins originally contained a reasonable amount of silver but with the passage of time the silver content was reduced until by the latter part of the reign of Henry IV of Castile (1454-1474) they have the appearance of pure copper. In spite of the absence of silver in them, they are still classed as billon. Blanco being the Spanish word for white, it was applied to these issues because their color, when first struck, and contained good silver.

CAVALLO: a Spanish word meaning "horse" is the name given to a small copper coin struck by the Kings of Aragon for Naples and Sicily. They were first issued by Ferdinand I (1458-1494) with a horse on the reverse. The device was dropped after the reign of Federico III (1496-1501) but the coin continued to be called cavallo until it was eliminated during the reign of Charles II (1665-1700). Due to its small value it was usually struck in multiples of two, three, four, six and nine cavalli.

CORNADO: a Spanish silver coin first issued by Alfonso X (1242-1284) of Castile principally at Toledo. The obverse bears a crowned bust of the king from which it derives its name, corona being the Spanish word for crown. The reverse device is a three-towered castle. The coin was gradually debased until it was discontinued early in the Sixteenth Century.

CROAT: the Spanish equivalent of gros or groat. It is the common name for a silver coin struck by the Counts of Barcelona. Issued in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Centuries.

DINERO: the modern Spanish word for money is the Spanish equivalent of the denier which in turn was derived from the Roman denarius. It was first issued at an early period and continued to be coined as late as the French occupation of Navarre. Its half is usually called the mallá or miaja, however, the term obol is also used to denote the half dinero.

DOBLA: a Spanish word meaning double applied to a gold coin. The first use of the term was by the Christians in Spain and denoted the double dinar struck by Yusuf the Emir of the Almorávides (1106-1140). Later Peter I of Castile (1350-1369) issued a gold coin valued at two escudos or dobla de escudo. The dobla was struck for many years and always had a qualifying word or words following it, such as the dobla de la banda of John II. Felipe Mateu y Llopis lists seventy-four different doblas in his glossary.

DOBLER: a billon coin of the Island of Majorca. It corresponded to the double croat and was first issued in the Thirteenth Century. The obverse was usually a crowned bust, facing, and the reverse was a cross. Later issues were of copper and were valued at two dineros.

ENRIQUE: a gold coin issued by Henry IV (1454-1474) of Castile and Leon which derives its name from that monarch. It was valued at twenty-five suealdos in Barcelona and at twenty-eight in Valencia. It was struck to replace the dobla de la banda of John II. The obverse shows the king seated on a throne facing forward and the reverse has the arms of Castile and Leon.

FERRANDINO, FERANDINO: another double denomination as both gold and silver coins were called by that name. They were issues of Ferdinand I of Naples (1458-1494).

GRANO: a small billon coin of Alfonso V (1442-1458) of Aragon for Naples and Sicily.

JAQUESA: a Spanish copper coin referred to in ordinances issued in the Fourteenth Century. It probably received its name from the city of Jaca which at one time was the capital of Aragon. Some writers claim that it was first issued by Sancho Ramirez I (1063-1094) of

Aragon. (He was Sancho Ramirez V of Navarre.)

MALLA: the smallest of all Spanish copper coins, equal to half of the dinero.

MARAVEDI PRIETO: was a small billon coin issued by Alfonso X (1252-1284) of Castile and was so-called on account of its color. Prieto is a Spanish word meaning "very dark" or "blackish," and as these coins were made so hurriedly that time was not taken to blanch the planchets before striking, the coin was very dark in color, hence the name.

MENUT: also called menudo, is any small or insignificant coin. The name is used sparingly for coins of the Middle Ages but becomes very common at a later date.

NOVEN: a billon coin first issued by Alfonso X (1252-1284) of Castile and Leon. By the reign of Henry IV (1454-1474), the noven had become so base that it had the appearance of being made of pure copper. It was struck at many mints and was discontinued in the Sixteenth Century. The obverse classically shows a rampant lion in a lozenge while the reverse is a three-towered castle.

OBOL: the half unit of the dinero.

PEPION: a billon coin first issued by Ferdinand III (1230-1252) of Castile and Leon; last struck by Alfonso X (1252-1284).

REAL: a Spanish silver coin first issued by Peter I (1350-1369) of Castile and Leon under the name of nummus realis (money of the king) from which the name real was derived. It continued in use in Spain until relatively modern times.

TARI: a silver coin issued by the Kings of Aragon for circulation in Naples and Sicily.

TIMBRE: a Spanish word meaning crest, seal, stamp or merit, and is the name given to a gold coin issued by Alfonso V (1416-1458) of Aragon for use in Valencia.

TORNESE: a copper coin of Naples and Sicily issued by the Aragonese kings during their domination of that area. The name is derived from the French coin, the gros tournois.

GEORGE GRIM

Editor's note: The following is reprinted by permission of the Minneapolis Morning Tribune whose issue of January 26, 1961 carried the story in George Grim's "I Like It Here" column. Residents of Minneapolis are very proud of their new Public Library. Those attending the nineteenth annual Central States Numismatic Society's convention to be held in that city April 28-30 are urged by General Chairman Paul Olson to visit the Library.

TEN THOUSAND BOGUS (but accurate) Confederate half dollars have been shipped from a Minneapolis commemorative coin company to Montgomery, Ala.

Quite a story behind that.

A local company, Wendell-North-western, makes most of the coins that honor celebrations all over the nation. They did jobs for Hawaiian and Alaskan statehood. What with the Civil war's big anniversary, they have been as busy as a Georgia mint.

In came an order for those ten thousand Confederate half dollars. But how to find one from which to make the die?

The Virginia historical society sent photostats of each side of the coin. Details were fuzzy. A shield, and the stalks of sugar cane and cotton surroundings, were recognizable. But what puzzled Bill Bryant, vice president of the local coin manufacturer, was what seemed to be a beehive, suspended on a pole above the shield.

The coins could have been turned out with a rough approximation of that whatever-it-was, but there was bound to be the joker with the magnifying glass who'd spot the sloppiness. So Bryant called the Minneapolis Public library. Did they have a clear picture of that coin?

Back came the word that only four had been minted, and those in 1861. Trouble in obtaining bullion stopped the presses. Only two* are known to exist today. But – and there goes our amazingly dependable library again – the art department staff produced the original book from which that Virginia historical society had made the fuzzy photostats. Nice, clear pictures that enabled the local company to do a mighty accurate job.

P.S.: It wasn't a beehive but a sort of stocking cap of the sort brought to our shores by Lafayette during the Revolutionary war.

So now Montgomery has the ten thousand bogus – but mighty accurate – commemorative coins for its February celebration and our library is busy setting up shop at its new and resplendent quarters on Nicollet Ave.

You think of books when you think of a library, but that art department that deciphered the Confederate dollar has nearly a million illustrations in the picture file, plus forty thousand books to help answer questions from what did Diamond Lil really look like to what were the pictures that once hung from the gilded walls of the old Minnesota theater. An average of two hundred thirty-five pictures a day are circulated from that department.

I'll have to pay them a visit when the new library opens at the end of this month.

*A third one was reported stolen from Fred H. Thompson of Greensboro, N. C. last fall (The Numismatist, September, 1960, pp. 1332-1333).

The devices on the twentieth century gold coins of the United States were by the eminent sculptors, Augustus Saint-Gaudens and Bela L. Pratt. They depart in many ways from the established traditions of the coins, a fact that explains much of the criticism against them. Of their power and artistic beauty there can be no question.

FUN Convention

The sixth annual convention of Florida United Numismatists, founded in Clearwater, Fla., in 1956, met in Miami January 11 to 15 and was the most successful to date. Under the guidance of President W. F. Steinberg and Treasurer H. A. Brand, the convention drew an estimated 5,000 visitors to a hundred dealer bourse and the two million dollar exhibits. Coca-Cola, coffee, cocktails, boat rides, sight-seeing trip—all were free. Newspaper, radio and TV coverage was excellent. Dealers reported good business as did Auctioneer James Kelly.

"Togetherness"

Dear Mr. Bradfield:

We have our Numismatist usually only one day and all the articles, news items and advertisements are read—and then it seems a long month ahead until the next issue arrives. We thoroughly enjoy this fine publication. We were especially pleased with the article "Coin Collecting Today" by Judge John Fontron, Jr. (March Numismatist, page 291) and to notice his A.N.A. number. He hasn't been a member for long but he has the spirit of the hobby.

In the last two or three years we have seen collectors change from the pleasures of collecting and enjoying their coins into those whose only pleasure is that of making money from their coins. Judge Fontron's article said it in full and better than I ever could. He really hit the nail on the head. Mr. Beebe and I are among those "little fellows in the area of foreign coins" he speaks of and we greatly enjoy our hobby together. Sometime I would like to write about our experiences together in the coin field in the hopes of getting more couples to enjoy it together also.

Lebanon Valley Club Hires Bus For Trip to Penn-Ohio Meet

The Lebanon Valley Coin Club of Lebanon, Pa., is hiring a motor coach so that all its members can attend the twenty-second anniversary convention of the Penn-Ohio Coin Clubs which is to be held at the Webster Hall Hotel, Pittsburgh, Pa., May 12-14. The Pittsburgh Numismatic Society is the host club for this important numismatic event.

The Lebanon Valley group, headed by Past President Ira Burrell, and Secretary Edward Frey will accompany the collectors as well as any other interested parties in the area. They believe that this is one of the first attempts of this nature by a combined group of numismatists. The Lebanon Valley group organized a similar arrangement for the convention last year when they visited Washington, D.C.

A Challenging Proposal

Dear Mr. Bradfield:

Three cheers for your editorial squib, p. 1793, The Numismatist (Dec. '60), warning the hunters for the so-called "small date, large date" cents, nickels and dimes not to waste their time. Indeed, my hat is off to you for your timely thrust against popular opinion.

In the Numismatic Scrapbook Magazine (Dec. '60) I wrote a small bit on this, along with a blast against the roll and bag accumulators and those who collect sealed brown envelopes (not proofs!).

Numismatics has been taken over by the faddists. Even some dealers are catering to the faddists in search of profit, caring little whether or not all these uncirculated rolls and bags will glut the market.

As I pointed out in my NSM article, it is going to take education to eliminate this mass of mediocrity in which many new ones flounder aimlessly.

As a starter on an educational program I recommend that the A.N.A. sponsor a correspondence course on numismatics, each lesson being written by an experienced professional numismatist.

The first lesson could deal with Roman and Greek coins, their classifications, reading, etc. Next could come a lesson on coins from 500 A.D. to the present (all foreign, of course). In third place would be a lesson on colonial coins of America, followed by lessons on classifying and grading U. S. half cents, large cents, early half dimes, dimes, quarters and half dollars (early silver dollars, too). This could lead progressively into later U. S. coinages, with final lessons on proofs, patterns, tokens, odd monies and paper money. This course would be A.N.A. sponsored, and the A.N.A. would grade and return the completed lessons to the student who could have a fine numismatic library of lessons at his fingertips. I would recommend 75% as a passing grade for a certificate as a Numismatist. This would, of course, be awarded upon the satisfactory completion of all courses.

Costly? Certainly. But each student would pay, say, $1.50 or $2.00 per lesson which would include lesson book (illustrated) and grading of his papers by competent numismatists.

I guarantee that the above plan would eliminate much of the present preoccupation with freak coins, rolls, bags, etc. Why, the average new collector is unaware that some issues of Liberty seated U. S. coins have arrows at the date and that Liberty standing quarters had the dates sunken from 1925 to 1930. These deficiencies could be cleared up by such correspondence courses. In fact, I would like to enroll myself.

I suggest that the A.N.A. give this idea some careful thought.

Donlon Fire Slows His Correspondence

William P. Donlon, P. O. Box 2677, Pompano Beach, Fla., upon returning home February 1 found his apartment, including his office equipment and supplies, had been ruined by fire, smoke and water. Penn-Ohio Meeting

Three of the rarest U. S. coins: The 1822 half eagle, last auctioned in 1940; the 1804 silver dollar, known as the "King of U. S. Coins"; and the ever famous 1913 liberty 5¢ piece — these three will be exhibited together for the first time in any show at the twenty-second annual Penn-Ohio Coin Clubs Convention, May 12-14 at Hotel Webster Hall in Pittsburgh. Among other outstanding exhibits, and another "first" in a numismatic convention, will be the Carnegie Museum's "Types of Coins, Tokens and Paper Money Used in the Prisons and Penitentiaries of the United States." Information for this exhibit was collected by Jack F. Burns, research associate in the Museum's Section of Coins and Medals, and a member of the convention host, Pittsburgh Numismatic Society.

A three-session auction will be conducted by James Kelly of Dayton, Ohio, from whom catalogs may be obtained. The sessions will be Friday evening, Saturday afternoon, and Sunday morning. According to General Chairman Ray Byrne, bourse space is completely filled.

The Convention Bureau of Pittsburgh will handle registration of the expected five thousand visitors, one of whom will be lucky enough to receive a brilliant uncirculated 1909-S VDB cent at the end of the show. Among the notables expected are A.N.A. President Oscar H. Dodson, First Vice President C. C. "Tim" Shroyer, General Secretary Lewis M. Reagan, Dr.

V. Clain-Stefanelli, Curator, Division of Numismatics of the Smithsonian Institution, officers of Pittsburgh Numismatic Society, and officers and many past presidents of the Penn-Ohio Coin Clubs.

Welcome Aboard

Dear Mr. Bradfield:

You will see by my number that I am very new in the Association, yet upon reading the article by Peter Franquet that appeared in the January, 1961 Numismatist, I cannot help but say a fervent amen to everything he has written.

In any other organization so put together with almost gratis services and a worthy magazine such as The Numismatist, I am sure the annual fees would be in the neighborhood of thirty to fifty dollars a year at least.

I am greatly pleased with what I've found and sincerely hope I'll be a credit to the membership as time goes on.

Thoughts on Commemoratives

Dear Mr. Bradfield:

I read with interest Dr. Weber's article on commemorative coins on page five in the January Numismatist. While I do not collect commemoratives because of the many issues of the thirties and the many mint marks of the early fifties, I do believe I would collect them if there were only one issue each year. The current issues of Heraldic Art and the official Hawaiian and Alaska statehood seem to be quality (medals), but duplication and overlapping of releases are confusing to me. If there were one release each year by the United States mint this would be eliminated and there would be many new commemorative collectors.

In regard to Dr. Weber's five proposals, I respectfully submit the following:

1. As long as the dollar is our unit of money, let the commemoratives be issued as silver dollars, providing the maximum of space for design.
3. The coins that are kept out of circulation actually cost the mint money, because more coins have to be minted to take their place and provide enough for general business.
5. The coins could be sold by the Treasury Department as the current mint sets are sold and until the supply is exhausted. No more than one coin to a purchaser.

I think any confusion in trade would be eliminated by the above suggestions and the desire of people to collect commemoratives would not be inhibited. It would be good if the A.N.A. could present to Congress a convincing commemorative plan.

Third Annual Indiana State Convention

In keeping with the commemoration of the Civil War theme of the Indiana State Numismatic Association's convention this year, Peter B. Payne will include a hundred lots of Confederate currency in the three-session auction. No other phase of numismatics will be neglected in this important auction, which will draw many to the Hoosier affair. Outstanding exhibits, including a new and complete type set of Confederate currency, will highlight the numismatic fare offered during the three days.

Special arrangements for the ladies attending include a complimentary luncheon, a style show, a tea, and a conducted tour of Evansville's new and impressive Museum of Arts and Sciences. All who pay the one dollar registration fee of the convention will receive a two-tone bronze medal, commemorating the Civil War especially designed for this event.

The two exhibit halls of the Vendome Hotel will house about forty bourse tables, a few of which are still available. The Saturday evening banquet will feature a talk by guest of honor Grover Criswell, outstanding authority on Confederate currency and a most popular speaker. Exhibit awards, including a special one for Civil War era entries, will be made at the banquet.

All inquiries concerning this convention, including requests for hotel reservations, should be addressed to: Evansville Coin Club, 1351 Washington Ave., Evansville 14, Ind.

Newcomer Spots Inaccuracy

The keen eye of a relatively new A.N.A. member, Joseph C. Fleming of Bloomfield, N.J., noted that the information on the overdate 1826/25 large cent in the "Red Book" was wrong and so advised the publisher of the catalog. Fleming's action was appreciated and a correction will appear in the new edition of the Red Book.

Coin Collectors Tabloid Newspaper Makes Its Bow

That the field of coin collecting is ever widening and its enthusiasts multiplying is evidenced by the growing number of publications being started. Latest to be launched, and the first in the South that shows any promise of lasting, is Numismatic Times and Trends which made its appearance January 10. Published by William J. Gruber, P. O. Box 189, New Orleans, La., it is to be issued twice a month in 8½" by 11" size of four columns width and printed on newspaper stock.

The first four numbers, each of thirty-two pages, are at hand and each shows marked improvement over earlier ones. Although emphasis seems to be on the economic side of the hobby, news items and articles of numismatic interest are carried. For instance, the January 10 number revealed a hitherto unknown pattern 1871 silver dollar, thought at first to be AW1123, Judd 1145, until its recent purchaser Charles T. Ross found that it had thirteen stars instead of twenty-two.

Of special note are the well written editorials, presumably the work of Managing Editor Kenneth E. Pierce, and the "Market Section" which should appeal to "coin investors." On the "Big Board" are shown late date high and low roll prices with mintages and the current price of coins. Perhaps the most useful innovation for the "investor," however, will be the Standard Pierce Index. Modelled after the stock market's Dow-Jones averages, this index is an attempt to bring a little science to establishing the trend of coin prices. How well it works time alone will tell.

Suspects Sought for Questioning In West Coast Coin Robbery

Coins and stamps, to an estimated value of $55,000 were taken in a robbery of the Allen Coin & Stamp, Long Beach, Cal. Chief of police William J. Mooney is seeking for questioning two men, whom he describes as follows: Gilbert Warren Justin, alias August Joseph Heitman, Don Worthen, male white, 6' 1½", 190 lbs., brown hair and eyes, born March 26, 1921, who is somewhat of a coin collector and knows a great deal about stamps; and Donald Walter Holmwood, male white, 5' 6", 153 lbs., born in Blackburn, England, April 9, 1913, occupation — waiter. Readers having any information on these subjects are requested to get in touch with their local police or the FBI.

Where Is the Hotel?

Sharp-eyed Don Sherer pointed out in a letter to the Editor that the location of the Hotel Claremont is given as Berkeley, Cal., on page 299 of the March Numismatist, whereas it is reported as Oakland, Cal., on page 325 of the same issue of the magazine. It is important, says the Assistant to the General Secretary, to those planning to attend the April 13-16 California State Numismatic Association spring convention.

This inadvertent error is regretted by the Editor who says the two pieces of information came to him from a couple of different sources, both informants being Californians highly regarded by the Editor. For the record, the hotel is in Berkeley but it probably doesn't matter much, as that city's close neighbor is Oakland. But the Editor is still trying to please everyone, despite all proofs that such a thing is impossible.

(By the way, Don, where is "Berkeley, Cal." to which you refer in your letter? Ed.)

Dealer Cooperative

The Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana Coin Dealers Association, whose stated purpose is the purchase of supplies on a group basis or the acquisition of large lots of coins, held its second meeting recently with fifteen dealers in attendance. Robberies

Three gunmen terrorized three persons for two hours February 20 while they opened a safe in the home of John H. Feather of Gary, Ind., and escaped with coins valued at an estimated $5,000. They used a ruse to get in while Feather was at work.

I. K. Stevenson of Sarasota, Fla., was beaten and threatened by a Negro man and a woman with "light complexion" who fled with a coin collection valued at $9,000. The coins were mostly minor U. S. coins in sets.

Two pistol wielding bandits took $20,000 in rare coins and bills after binding and gagging Sidney W. Smith of Miami, Fla., as he was talking to James B. Robinson, a banker from Maryville, Mo. The FBI is reported as having entered the case.

Another Dakota Territory Centennial Token

The Bismarck, N. Dak., Chamber of Commerce is striking a Dakota Territory Centennial token showing territorial and present capitol buildings on the obverse and Custer's "Trail West" drama on the reverse. The "coin" will sell for fifty cents and be redeemable for merchandise through September 5.

In Congress

These bills of interest to numismatists have been introduced in the current session of Congress:

H. R. 3659. To prevent the alteration of U. S. coins for fraudulent purposes. Congressman Kenneth J. Gray (Ill.). Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

H. R. 4617. Similar to H. R. 3659. Congressman William J. Randall (Mo.). Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

H. J. 160. Authorizing the striking of appropriate gold medals in the name of the United States and tendering the thanks of Congress to General of the Army Douglas MacArthur and Fleet Admiral Chester Nimitz. Congressman L. Mendel Rivers (S.C.).

Suggests Branding of Coins To Discourage Thieves

Gentlemen:

Following my recent experience on February 1 of being robbed of my coin collection of over $9,000, hog-tied, gagged and beaten, the thought came to me that perhaps the disposal of these stolen coins could be made an almost impossibility, if the following could be made possible by the A.N.A.

A.N.A. members are assigned membership numbers. If in addition to these numbers, we could be assigned a symbol similar to the chop marks used in the China trade as applied to our old trade dollars, these could be applied to our own rare coins.

If the A.N.A. would set forth a policy that would be recognized by all dealers and collectors, that the appearance of these symbols on the reverse of all valuable coins would not be construed as damaging or mutilating these coins and not be considered as harming the grading of these coins. If it could be done it would be almost impossible for a thief to dispose of these branded coins. If a member wished to dispose of his "branded" collection, a legitimate bill of sale would accompany the coin and its history and original ownership would always be on record.

With the rash of coin robberies in the last year, something is necessary to protect the collector, or he is going to be frightened away from a hobby that gives so much pleasure.

Several friends criticized me for having a collection this size in my home, saying I should have kept it in a safe or in a bank vault. If coin collecting gets to the point where it can not be worked with and enjoyed and shown to friends at will, then it no longer is a hobby and becomes "hoarding in a vault" like a miser hoarding his gold. Even if I had had a safe, I assure you with a knife in my belly I am not brave enough to have withheld the combination, or who knows what would have happened had I said my collection was in a bank vault? Instead of just being beaten I might have been killed.

— I. K. STEVENSON

Editor's note: The above would appear to be impractical, as complete agreement of "branding" would involve more than the A.N.A. Executive Board and A.N.A. members. The majority of collectors would undoubtedly consider the brand as a mar to what might otherwise be a perfect coin. We must continue to seek a solution of this problem, however.

"Brockage"

Dear Mr. Bradfield,

In the December Numismatist, page 1802, I see the suggestion that the term "brockage" be used for any misstruck coin. The term is specific, however, for a coin "with the same type reproduced incuse on the other side," of course in reverse. See Leonard S. Forrer's Art of Collecting Coins, 1955, page 122. Such pieces result when a coin, already struck, remains in a die and is covered by a blank, and is struck again. It is possible for a brockage to be struck off center.

—THOMAS O. MABBOTT, LM 160

Editor's note: In addition to the above, two other definitions are these: The Century Dictionary, W. D. Whitney, Editor, Century Co., NYC, 1902 says that brockage is "In numismatics an imperfect coin" as in the example "All imperfect coins, curiously termed brockage, are picked out" (Andrew Ure, Dictionary of Arts, Manufacturing and Mining, seventh edition, 1878).

A New English Dictionary on Historical Principles (popularly called the Oxford Dictionary), edited by James A. H. Murray, I, 1120, Oxford and Macmillan, NYC, 1888, states that brockage is "1. A damaged piece in coining money, etc." as in "1879. 10th Report of the Master of the Mint (1880), 38, 'The reduced number of brockages or faulty pieces produced.'"

Obverse: ADMIT in center within a beaded oval. Around the edge is broad milling.

Reverse: "1817" in center within a beaded oval. Around the edge is broad milling.

Copper. Size 12½. Plain edge No. 1. Border No. 5 Adams 41. Wright 4. Raymond 1.

In the Betts Sale on January 11, 1898, Lyman Low says of these pieces under Lot 25: "Unquestionably Park Theatre, N. Y. about 1820-24, not withstanding other places of amusement in England as well as the U. S. has been credited with it." Later in the same sale under Lot 292, Low says: "Park Theatre was commenced June 1st, 1795 and completed in 1798. The proprietors petitioned for permission to erect a portico over the sidewalk but it was not granted. The theatre was burned May 25th, 1820, (also in 1821, according to authority). In Feb. 1824, a grand ball was given for the benefit of the Greeks, when $2,000 was realized. A third conflagration of the theatre took place Dec. 16, 1848," Both Adams and Wright concur with this attribution, but in the Coin Collectors Journal listing it is stated that the theater was built in 1817. Although this token is not rare, it appeared in a Philadelphia coin dealer's list in 1848 for $10.00.

Obverse: PAID in center within a beaded oval. Around the edge is a milling not as broad as in previous piece.

Reverse: "1817" in center within a beaded oval. Around the edge is milling.

Copper. Size 12½. Plain edge No. 1. Border No. 5. Not listed in either Adams or Wright. Raymond N. Y. No. 2.

This piece, like the preceding one, apparently was issued by the Park Theater. The milling around the edge on the reverse and obverse is not so pronounced. There is a die break in the beading of the reverse which is likewise shown in the Raymond photograph. It is indeed curious why Adams did not list this variety in his book — perhaps it was a mere oversight. In any event, the piece is much rarer than the ADMIT token, but still can not be called a great rarity.

Obverse: In five lines GRANNISS/ &/TAYLOR/BALTIMORE/MD with ornamental flourishes. Counterstamped TAYLOR with flourish beneath.

Reverse: An omnibus drawn by two horses.

Metal — brass, size oval 14 x 10, border No. 1, edge plain. The non-counterstamped piece is listed as Atwood 60H — Adams Md — 64 — Duffield 53. The counterstamped piece is entirely unknown. This piece was issued about 1860.

Duffield said, "This firm as proprietors of a line of omnibuses does not appear in the directories, but in that of 1864 is found 'Granniss & Taylor, oyster packers, foot of Chester,' and in that year only. The existence of the card, which is rare, is evidence that they were the proprietors of a line of omnibuses, probably about 1860, and the presumption is that with the advent of horse-cars in 1859, shortly after which all the omnibus lines were practically driven out of business, Messrs. Granniss & Taylor engaged in the oyster-packing business, which at that time was one of the rapidly growing industries of the city."

The writers check of some new sources showed only that Granniss and Taylor in 1864 were located at Aliceanna and Chester Sts. Search of Taylor in either oyster packing or omnibus lines proved futile. Apparently Taylor bought out Granniss and instead of issuing new tokens counter-stamped the old pieces. The counter-stamped piece is the only one known. Several of the ordinary pieces have been reported.

The big event of July will be the second annual numismatic show of the North East Ohio Coin Club in the Statler-Hilton Hotel in downtown Cleveland on July 21-23. The Club extends an invitation to the early birds to attend its regular meeting Thursday evening, participate in the monthly auction, and join members in their after-meeting "coffee break." Michael Kolman will conduct the auction during the show and solicits choice consignments. There will be a buffet dinner Saturday evening, and special entertainment for the ladies daily. Trophies will be awarded for the best displays, and an 85-table bourse will occupy the Grand Ball Room. Over half of the tables have been sold and others are available at $45 from Bourse Chairman Dick Krotz, 1482 East 133rd Street, East Cleveland 12. — LIEDA F. ROSS, Corr. Sec.

President James Grebinger presided, with 110 members and guests present at the 120th meeting of Oak Park (Ill.) Coin Club on February 10. In addition to several fine displays of Washington and Lincoln numismatic items, we saw an 1856 flying eagle cent and 1877 Indian cent in proof. Harold Klein and James Thompson handled the auction. The Club has outgrown its present quarters and expects to move to a new meeting room very soon for its regular second Friday monthly meetings. Plans are under way for participation in National Coin Week and for our annual West Suburban Coin Festival for the first Sunday in November. — S. A. VAN PETTEN, Sec.

President Howard Humitsch appointed his committee chairmen for 1961 at the 253rd meeting of Cleveland Coin Club on January 3. Program Chairman Dorothy Humitsch introduced Ernest Cooke who spoke about "Odd and Curious Monies of the World." Having a collection which has won several trophies, and currently writing an article on the subject, he was able to cover the topic quite thoroughly. He has found this a fascinating field, and divides these monies into five groups: commodity money — items of barter; money of primitive societies — beads, shells, etc.; money of advanced societies — on which there is some form of writing; emergency money—such as counterstamped; and pieces of odd shape, size, style, etc. We expect to find new collectors of odd and curious money soon from among those who heard Cooke's stimulating talk. Among other exhibits were coins and tokens relating to the founding of Cleveland and other such subjects, by Millie Shunk; some rare old South American coins, by Dr. Y. A. Sargis. William Callaghan demonstrated a coin viewer that he developed and patented.

Our 254th meeting was held February 1 in the Ohio Room of the Statler-Hilton Hotel. Richard Krotz and Joe Lukas reported on the Florida conventions from which they had just returned, where Joe captured two exhibit trophies. Mike Kolman told us about such coins—how they can be made at the mint, how they are cleverly faked, and advised us to study them to detect the difference between the genuine and fake. He stated also that it is fact rather than fiction that determines the rarity of mint errors. Mike has used his seventeen years of experience in this field in writing a book which will be very helpful to anyone collecting mint errors. —THELMA HILTBRUNNER, Sec.

The 243rd meeting of Indianapolis Coin Club fell on Washington's birth date and 115 persons attended. Leo Terry had three cases of Washington medals on exhibit, including many Masonic medals and the copper, silver and gold funeral medals. His narration of numerous pieces in the exhibit was most enlightening. A panel of numismatic "experts" did themselves proud in answering questions from the audience in a quiz program. —RALPH A. BROWN, Corr. Sec.

The theme of the February meeting of Pacific Coast Numismatic Society was Washingtoniana, the meeting being held on Washington's birthday. Many exhibits featured coins, medals and paper money depicting the first President. J. Sam Norwood, speaker of the evening, related experiences during his twenty years as a teller for the Wells Fargo bank. Sidney Haas spoke on his exhibit "Panorama of African Coins," showing 48 coins from all parts of the continent issued from 200 B.C. to the present. Norwood had the new dollar bills with signatures of Elizabeth Rudel Smith and C. Douglas Dillon for all who wanted them at face value. —MRS. HARRY CUTLER, Sec.

The East Los Angeles Coin Club, the "Biggest Little Club," received a nice letter of thanks from the Crippled Children's Society of Los Angeles for a contribution of $168.25 during the last year. This amount was raised by auctions of coins donated by members at monthly meetings, which are held the third Monday evenings at 5355 E. Beverly Blvd. —WALTER T. SNYDER, Club Rep.

The 118th meeting of San Gabriel Valley Coin Club was held January 18 at the Huntington-Sheraton Hotel in Pasadena. Alva Christensen presiding. Dr. Verner Rich of Fullerton spoke on the value of a numismatic library and displayed about fifty fine and rare books from his own library. We found the talk enlightening and enjoyed the many amusing sidelights that the speaker injected. Fine exhibits were made by Jeanne Bradford, William Fisher, M. H. Bolender, Elmer Johnson, I. Newton Sanders, Henri N. Heller, Mike Ayers, Robert Northwood, Pat Kelly, Robert Zangle and Dr. Charles Mason. —ETHEL ROMA STONE, Corr. Sec.

The 57th meeting of Clearwater Coin Club was held February 20 at the Chamber of Commerce, about fifty attending. How not to get "gypped" was the subject of an interesting and informative talk by Col. Jim Watkins, Manager of the local Better Business Bureau. He outlined many of the schemes by which the public is gypped, surprising us that so many people are fleeced by the gypsters. Doug Brown had the outstanding display of the evening in a set of uncirculated Liberty Standing half dollars mounted in special plastic cases. Fred Pritchett made his debut as auctioneer in a very fine manner. —RALPH C. LEWIS, Pres.

The 79th meeting of Central California Coin Club was held in the Monterey Library on February 20. The 43 persons present introduced themselves as a move to get better acquainted. Officers for 1961 are: president, Linden Leavitt; vice president, Mrs. Heller; treasurer, G. G. Davis; secretary, Warren S. Claunch. The latter two were re-elected. President Leavitt, in taking over from Don Crosby, predicted that the Club will grow with new and bolder programs. Col. Clear of the executive committee suggested things that we should undertake and strive for, such as welcome first time visitors more actively, promote more of the cultural and historical side of coin collecting, provide speakers for more meetings, keep profits from being the only goal at meetings, and overhaul our auction procedure. Mr. Adcock warned newcomers to study prices and conditions to avoid being "taken" by sharks in business. A talk on collecting coins in Europe is scheduled for the next meeting. —WARREN S. CLAUNCH, Sec.

Jack A. Quilico gave a most helpful talk on the "Proper Grading of Coins" at the February 23 meeting of Billings Coin Club in the Bureau of Reclamation Cafeteria. After the talk, members took part in a demonstration of coin grading, for which prizes were awarded. —LEONA FLATTUM, Publicity

The February meeting of Glendale (Calif.) Coin Club was devoted entirely to a "white elephant" auction of articles donated by members to raise funds for club activities. Our meetings are held the third Monday monthly at the Tuesday Afternoon Club, Lexington and Central Avenues. — ESTELLE K. POWERS, Rec. Sec.

Dr. George Fuld, president of the newly organized Society of Medals, Tokens and Paper Money Collectors, spoke at the February meeting of the Washington (D. C.) Numismatic Society. Using the topic "U. S. Coinage, Past, Present and Future," he cited the soaring prices of current items and predicted that many collectors will turn to coins issued before 1850 and to other numismatic items, such as tokens and medals. He remarked that the first catalogs were not prepared until in the 1840s, and that during the early part of the Nineteenth Century no one collected by dates. Under the guidance of President Howard Rosenberg, the Society is recruiting new members. This meeting was attended by 151 persons, with nine applications for membership. Persons in the area who are interested in numismatics are invited to join, and those in the area temporarily will be welcomed as guests. D. Wayne Johnson, a former member, was voted an honorary membership in recognition of his success with Coin World. — G. H. SANDY, Pub. Chm.

Features of the December meeting of Inland Empire Coin Club (Spokane) were the election of 1961 officers, a presentation and a fine speaker. The new officers are: president, Edward Kozisek; vice president, Jack Koch; secretary, Mrs. Gretchen Schlecht; treasurer, Bill Miller; directors, Mrs. Fran Miller, Claire Dirstine, Cliff Couey, L. G. Schlecht and LeRoy Herrington. An attractive, custom made gavel was donated to the Club for use by the presiding officer and presented to Ed Kozisek by Mrs. Irene Alexander. The eighty members and guests then heard Albert Deishl present an informal talk on American colonial coinage. Interest was heightened by a fine display of the subject coins by the speaker and Dick McTighe. This Club is host to the eighteenth annual convention of Pacific Northwest Numismatic Association in Spokane's Davenport Hotel, May 26-28. Visitors are always welcome at our meetings the first Tuesday evening monthly at the Spokane County Courthouse.

More than a hundred members and guests participated in the Club's seventh annual banquet on January 7 in the Spokane Hotel. A musical program and the installation of officers were followed by presentation of awards for the fine exhibits of the affair. S. Luther Essick won first in the foreign division and the grand award for his presentation of biblical coins with the theme "Hair Styles." Fred Chindahl won second and Bill Wyman third in foreign. In the U. S. division, Floyd Perks won first, Harry Lindelhauf second, and A. W. Landrum third. — IRENE ALEXANDER, Pub. Chm.

The February 20 meeting of Santa Barbara Coin Club set two records—an attendance of 112 and, in the opinion of most, the best program it has ever had. It was no secret that many came just to hear A. Kosoff's talk on the stimulative subject of "rarities." He started by correcting the common impression that rarity and price are somewhat synonymous. Some rare items which are not in great demand are priced far below others that are sought by more collectors. He cited the case of the pattern 1856 Flying Eagle cent, of which there are many more than of most pattern coins, yet the cent is in greater demand and brings more than practically any other pattern. Many interesting and little known facts about rare coins came to light during this talk which held everyone's attention from start to finish. Questions from the audience were answered following the talk. The speaker not only gave us an informative talk but, as one member said, did it in "such a manner that each person in the room was completely captured by it." We look forward to another fine program when A.N.A. President Dodson speaks to us at the April meeting. — GWEN SENTIS Sec.

International Money Exchange was the theme of the Fort Collins Coin Club with Paul Tsi, Gham, Gold Coast, West Africa as the main speaker of the foreign students who spoke to the club. New officers for 1961 are: Verl Robinson, president; Danny Sauer, vice president; L. Helene Bohler, secretary and Walter P. Bohler, treasurer. The Club now has 195 paid members for 1961 representing twelve states, and two of the provinces of Canada, Alberta and Saskatchewan. Regular attendance averages about sixty-five the year around. Bourse tables are $15 for the two days and reservations should be made with Arthur Faucon, 1605 E. Glenn St., Springfield, Ill. Exhibits must be framed or in their own cases. Doors will be open from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. each day, no admission charge. Make room reservations directly with the hotel. — WALTER MCMANN.

The 271st regular meeting and 22nd annual banquet of Orange County Coin Club was held January 25 at the Womans Clubhouse in Brea, Calif. Dinner was served to 82 members and guests, after which Leonel Panosh, Past President of A.N.A., acted as master of ceremonies. Musical entertainment was furnished by the Nightingals of Fullerton, a female barber shop quartet that took second honors in national competition last year. Former President Howard Robinson installed 1961 officers in a solemn manner until he came to the last clause in the induction charge, when he added "and we promise to pay five dollars to the 1964 CSNA convention fund." Thus he neatly extracted five bucks from the following officers: president, John Rime; vice president, Ralph Mitchell; secretary, Herbert Bergen; treasurer, William Wisslead; directors, Dan Harley, Dr. Calvert Emmons, Amos House, Bryan Burke, Jr., and Bruce Linton. Immediate Past President Dan Harley praised the Club's accomplishments during the past year, and John Rime delivered the shortest inaugural address on record - "I'll do my best." The old pro, Loyd Prante, emerged from retirement to give a repeat of his 1954 banquet address, "Eat Your Apple Now." He kept the attention of all, layering between humorous episodes the moral admonition to do today what too many put off until tomorrow when it is too late. In addition to enthusiastic applause, he and Mrs. Prante were presented five and ten dollar gem gold coins with the dates corresponding with their birth years. - HERB BERGEN, Sec.

ADVERTISERS PLEASE NOTE ALL FOLLOWING CONDITIONS

All correspondence relating to advertising should be addressed to the Advertising Manager, S. W. Freeman, P. O. Box 591, Newport, Ark. Make all remittances payable to the American Numismatic Association.

Advertising Contracts: These are available, covering periods of three, six and twelve consecutive months for display space as listed in the above Table of Rates, and are necessary if the schedule of reduced rates is to apply. If the advertiser prefers not to accept the Contract, such reduced rates will be granted only upon payment in advance for the period desired.

References: All advertisers who submit copy for the first time are definitely requested to furnish therewith banking or other satisfactory references.

Available Space Units: Practical considerations restrict the allocation of space units to those listed in the above table. Any amount of space (subject to any current limitation) is available IF these units or a combination of them are used. Unless contrary instructions are given, copy will be cut if found too full for the space designated; if no designation is made, it shall be understood the amount of space is left to the discretion of the Advertising Manager.

Unless under contract, smaller units than one-half page accepted subject to available space in desired issue.

Deadline: Copy must be received by the Advertising Manager by the 7th of the month to insure insertion in the following month's issue.

Illustrations: All cuts to be provided by the advertisers, care being used to see that they do not exceed in measurement the limits of the space unit desired. The Advertising Manager will, when requested, have suitable cuts made from furnished photographs.

We cannot accept mats or stereos.

Miscellaneous: Please furnish copy separately from your letter of transmittal. Advertising copy included in the body of a letter usually has to be retyped for the printer; this should not be required. Mail Bid Sales listing not acceptable. It is also the policy of the magazine to limit its advertisements to those of numismatic character.

Preparation of Copy: Advertising copy should be prepared with minute care. Carelessness invites error — something which both advertiser and publisher are anxious to avoid. Use only one side of the sheet. Send originals, not carbon copies. Use only paper of good quality, and not of extremely light weight. All copy must be typed, no handwritten accepted.

In the absence of an Advertising Contract, when payment in advance for any number of consecutive months has been made, if change of copy has not been received by the 7th of the month for the next issue, the latest preceding advertisement will be run.

Advertisers may use a trade name, but, except in the case of an incorporated concern, the name of the proprietor or some other responsible person connected with the firm must also appear in the advertisement.

The right to edit copy, to require payment in advance, and to decline any advertisement is specifically reserved.

For the fourth time since 1950, we have been awarded the official auction sale to be conducted during the National A.N.A. Convention. Our first was in 1950 at Milwaukee and the following year at Phoenix. The Chi-ANA Sale in Chicago which we conducted in 1956 is still well remembered as it set a number of records, many of which have not been surpassed even today. A catalogue and sale of similar quality is being planned for the Atlanta Convention. This numismatic event will be even more interesting due to it being held during the Centennial Celebration of the Civil War.

THE EXTREMELY RARE 1868 LARGE CENT

Enlarged Illustration

With pleasure we offer one of the five or six known specimens of the 1868 large copper cent. To our knowledge this is the first specimen of this rarity to be publicly offered in recent numismatic history.

The 1868 large cent was struck at the United States Mint eleven years after the official discontinuation of the large cent series in 1857. Its intent was almost certainly to create a rarity for private sale by Mint officials. It was near this time that the famous second reverse or "restrike" 1804 dollars were coined for the same purpose.

The 1868 large cent is one of the rarest members of that family of rarities produced under the same circumstances at different times during the history of the Philadelphia Mint. A listing of these rarities produced after a design was officially discontinued follows:

"PRIVATE MINT RARITIES"

1868 Large cent	5 or 6 known
1913 Liberty head nickel	5 known
1866 Quarter, without reverse motto	1 known
1866 Half dollar, without reverse motto	1 known
1804 Silver dollar	14 known
1866 Silver dollar, without reverse motto	2 known
1884 Trade dollar	10 known
1885 Trade dollar	5 known

The 1868 large cent is certainly one of the most desirable of these issues. In addition, it is by far the rarest date of the large cents, one of the most popular United States series.

Here is a coin so rare that its very existence is unknown to most collectors. We have located definitely only two other specimens; the piece in the collection of the American Numismatic Society and the piece in the cabinet of a New York numismatist. The specimen offered here has rested in a New England collection for the past twenty-five years. We offer this magnificent rarity in Proof condition for $7250.00. We do not know where another specimen could be located for any price.

WE OFFER YOU TWO WAYS TO SELL YOUR COINS

✓ Outright Purchase — Under this arrangement we will evaluate your coins and submit our cash offer. Our willingness to pay a generous and fair price has enabled us to purchase hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of the finest coins to be offered for sale in past years. A collector in Massachusetts recently sent along with an express shipment this note: "I am sending you the balance of my collection. . . . Send me your check by return mail. Your other offers have been most satisfactory. I am sure that this one will be also." As a result we acquired a magnificent collection of U. S. silver dollars and gold coins.

✓ Auction — We offer authoritative and experienced cataloguing with proven results. At your disposal is our extensive knowledge of U. S. copper, silver and gold coins as well as such specialized series as colonials, early large cents, tokens, patterns, territorial gold, etc. Our experience with photography and typography will make the catalogue one which you will be proud to have bear your name. The catalogue will be sent to our mailing list of the nation's most active bidders and buyers. The sale will be held in New York City . . . thus insuring additional active bidding from the floor.

When you consider selling your coins, contact Bowers Coin Company. We believe that you, like so many other collectors, will like the way we do business. May we look forward to the pleasure of hearing from you?

Collectors Prefer America's First Family of Coin Albums The Library of Coins

Complete visibility and complete protection, the two most-wanted features of a coin album, are presented for the first time by The Library of Coins. Bound like books, handsome and compact, each Library of Coins volume displays and protects its coins between two sliding panels of clear, tough plastic. Each coin "porthole" has printed next to it full data on mint mark and quantity minted. Each volume contains a brief background story on the coins, giving both the novice and advanced collector helpful information, including a listing of the rare dates.

Measuring $8\frac{1}{4} \times 6\frac{1}{4}$ ", the volumes are low priced, sturdily manufactured, and permanently bound in a variety of identifying colors for the various denominations. Their compact size permits the storing of a large coin collection in very small space. Backbones are clearly gold stamped so that they are as readily identifiable as are books.

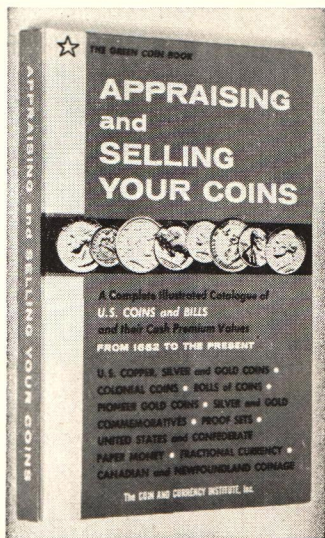

The Library of Coins is the first major innovation in high grade coin albums in more than 30 years. They were several years in development and were designed by numismatists to satisfy the needs and desires of numismatists. Write for a descriptive circular on the Library of Coins.

The Green Coin Book

"APPRAISING AND SELLING YOUR COINS"

a complete illustrated catalogue of U.S. coins and bills and their cash premium values, from 1652 to the present. And the complete coinage of Canada and Newfoundland, from 1858 to the present. Edited by Robert Friedberg.

Hard Cover, Handy Size (5" x 7½"), Fully Illustrated, 176 Pages, Price $1.75

Only in the Green Coin Book will you find the wealth of coin features being published together for the first time in one superbly produced and well designed book, such as you have grown to expect from the publishers. No other similar book, past or present, can offer the variety of valuable coin information presented here so expertly, so completely and yet so inexpensively.

You get not only a complete catalogue of the standard U. S. coins from 1793 to date in all metals, denominations, dates and mints, but also the following subjects, never before assembled into one volume:

- Rolls of Unc. coins from 1934 to date.
- U. S. Paper Money from 1861 to date.
- Colonial and early American coins.
- Confederate States Paper Money.
- Pioneer Gold Coins.
- Canadian and Newfoundland Coinage from 1858 to date.

The Green Coin Book is extremely well illustrated, coinage figures are given alongside each coin and all items show the average prices paid by dealers.

The publication of the Green Coin Book, "Appraising and Selling Your Coins," is a major event in coin literature. It satisfies an obvious need and does it very well. In this day of intense numismatic activity, no one should be without this book.

For only $1.75 you get a new standard work, crammed with so much important information, that you will consult it constantly. It is truly a unique book; it is authoritative, and for what it contains, it is an incredible bargain.

THE KING IS DEAD—LONG LIVE THE KING

Mohamed V of Morocco, known to us as Sidi Mohamed ben Youssef, has gone to his eternal rest and his Son, El Hassan is now Sultan of Morocco, may Allah guide him in the great task which lies before him.

The new Ruler, directly descended from Fatima, daughter of the Prophet Mohamed, bears a name which is famous in the Alaouite Dynasty. The first son born from the marriage of Fatima and Ali ben Abou Thaleb was named El Hassan and it was he who founded the Cherifian Empire.

Many generations later, the great grandfather of the new Sultan, Abou Aly Moulai El Hassan, famous for his great deeds and his kindness, arranged to have modern coinage struck at the mint in Paris, France.

STANDING LIBERTY QUARTERS

Here is a complete set of uncirculated (except overdate in very fine) Standing Liberty Quarters, undoubtedly one of the more difficult series to assemble in this condition. This particularly choice set took years to complete for numerous dates are difficult to locate in sharp strikes. Since condition is all important in this series, exact descriptions of each coin offered are listed. This set has been rising in popularity since it offers the numismatist a challenge in finding really good copies of each date. Prices are reasonable compared to the scarcity of coins in these conditions.

ALL COINS ARE BRILLIANT UNCIRCULATED EXCEPT OVERDATE

1916	The lowest mintage of the series, 52,000 struck. Rare in uncirculated, this coin has a strong although not full head. The fields on both sides are almost prooflike. Very sharp reverse with a strong eagle. Auction records to $420.00	$350.00
1917	Type I. This very sharp strike has a full head and shield	14.00
1917-D	Type I. This strong strike has a part head and shield	28.50
1917-S	Type I. The head and shield are strong with a sharp reverse	31.50
1917	Type II. Almost full head, full shield, weak date	16.50
1917-D	Type II. Full head, good shield, above average	49.50
1917-S	Type II. Three quarter head, well above average	45.00
1918	Part head, part shield, still very nice	38.50
1918-D	Full head and shield, very sharp strike, flawless fields	60.00
1918-S	Full head and shield, very sharp and strong strike	47.50
1918-S/17	Rare overdate. This coin is very fine to extra fine, only slightest wear apparent. The overdate is clear and strong	310.00
1919	Full head and shield, weak date, but well above average	39.00
1919-D	Three quarter head and shield. This is one of the most difficult coins to locate in a good strike. Well worth	130.00
1919-S	A very sharp strike, almost full head and shield, prooflike fields	190.00
1920	Full head, very sharp strike	16.00
1920-D	Full head, another very sharp strike, a beautiful coin	90.00
1920-S	Three quarter head, good shield, well above average	39.50
1921	Also three quarter head and shield, a beautiful sharp strike	110.00
1923	Full head and full shield, another very sharp strike	15.00
1923-S	Full shield and knee, three quarter head, very strong date, very sharp.	140.00
1924	About the only average coin in the set, still nice	9.75
1924-D	A strong strike but only half head and shield	13.50
1924-S	Full head and knee, good shield. Very strong date and strike, flawless fields, one of the gems of the collection	65.00
1925	Three quarter head and shield, very sharp strike	12.00
1926	Average head and shield, but sharp strike and free from flaws	11.00
1926-D	The head and shield are mostly flat but has a beautiful field	9.00
1926-S	Well above average coin with three quarter head	115.00
1927	Full head but fair shield, good knee, perfect reverse	16.00
1927-D	Three quarter head but strong strike	10.50
1927-S	One of the most sought after coins. This sharp strike has a half head and shield but still well above average. Auction records to $420.00	330.00
1928	Full head and shield, very strong strike	16.00
1928-D	Full shield and three quarter head, very good strike	9.50
1928-S	Full head, shield and knee. Very sharp strike	12.75
1929	Full head and knee, good shield	10.00
1929-D	Three quarter head and shield, another difficult coin to locate in a good strike. This was the last acquired coin in the set	15.00

We handle many choice colonials which do not remain in stock long enough to be advertised. Your want list is welcomed.

HALF CENTS

Half Cents are now becoming increasingly popular, as well they should. After many years of neglect in favor of large cents, they are beginning to attract interest. Half Cents are esthetically attractive, easy and fun to attribute, and still much underpriced in comparison to cents, while offering a far greater challenge. The forthcoming Breen book on the series is expected to attract many avid collectors to the series, resulting in soaring values, exactly as "Penny Whimsy" did to large cents. 1794 G-2. R-7. (Sheldon scale) VF, shallow pitting, Condition census. $110.00. 1795 G-7. R-7. About VG, small edge nick, reverse center weakly struck. One of the three varieties described by Gilbert but not illustrated on his plates—because he had none in acceptable condition. $75.00. 1797 G-2. R-6. Low Head type. VG/G. $30.00. 1800 VF

Useful for cleaning all kinds of coins, but particularly adapted to cleaning coins of copper or nickel.

EASY TO USE AND ECONOMICAL! FAST ACTION — IT ACTUALLY CLEANS IN SECONDS!

Does not add shine, but brings out natural color, including original brilliance if it is still there under tarnish or coating. Dull or dark uncirculated coins become brilliant uncirculated coins in seconds.

This result of years of experiment can be safely used on valuable coins to improve their appearance and increase their value.

NEW HAMPSHIRE CENT

We have recently struck copies of the famous Wm. Moulton New Hampshire cent which was pictured in the Red Book in the Colonial section. There are only two specimens in existence, one in the John Hopkins Museum and the other piece, which we discovered several years ago, is now in the hands of a well known Cleveland collector. We have never seen a copy or electro of this almost unique item. The pieces are well struck and the word "Copley" is on the reverse in small letters to distinguish it from the original. A limited number of pieces have been struck. Bronze, $5.00 each. We have a large stock of numismatic material.

Price list free. Your wants solicited.

Please include 25¢ for postage and handling on orders under $15.00.
